The Network UNESCO Chair at the Institute for Strategy of Education Development of the Russian Academy of Education is developing the pilot project «Pedagogical ways of implementation of education for sustainable development in successive stages of education». During the reporting period 29 network and face-to-face seminars and conferences for teachers of schools and additional education of children were held in the framework of the project. Participants were talked about the history of the UN, UNESCO and their mission in the modern world, as well as about the Global action program on ESD. The seminars and conferences were attended by hundreds of school teachers all over the European part of Russia and the Siberia. The most important outcome was the creation of a network of inter-regional partnerships of associated educational organization at the Chair on "Learning to live sustainably in the global world. Ecology. Health. Security "(UNITWIN UNESCO program). The participants of this network partnership include:

- Teachers, school psychologists, social workers, administrators of educational institutions, methodologists, teachers, teachers of additional education
- Parents, adults
- Children
- Educational organizations (EO)
- The municipal methodical services (MMS)
- The municipal education authorities
- Regional education authorities (ministry, department)

Associated educational organizations participate in three forms:

- of an innovative platform engaged in the implementation of innovative developments in the field of education for sustainable development;
- of an experimental platform checking the experimental data and determining the ways of their use in education;
- of an internship platform organizing dissemination of best teaching practices based on the results of the work of innovative and experimental platforms.

Network Partnership of the Chair represents a new level of the pilot project. It is being carried out in three directions, corresponding to the Priority action areas of the Global Action Program on ESD after 2015:

- Transforming learning and training environments and integrating sustainability principles into education and training settings;
- Building capacities of educators and trainers thus increasing the capacities of educators and trainers to more effectively deliver ESD;
- Empowering and mobilizing youth in order to multiply ESD actions among young people.

Currently, the partnership network is in the stage of expansion and formation, training courses are conducted for participants of experimental and internship work.
